

Labeling Solutions

Improve patient safety while driving operational efficiencies

The Joint Commission's top patient safety goal is to improve the accuracy of patient identification — and for good reason. A recent Harvard-affiliated study found that labeling errors represent 24% of overall medication errors, most of them serious or potentially life-threatening.

100 Years of Healthcare Experience

Taylor Healthcare is a leading provider of labeling solutions that promote positive patient identification and bring new levels of operational efficiency to the entire continuum of care. We combine more than a century of healthcare industry experience with deep materials science and manufacturing savvy. The result is a labeling program perfectly suited to the unique demands of the healthcare environment.

A Label for Every Need

Taylor Healthcare provides labeling solutions for virtually every usage scenario in the healthcare environment.

Admission Labels

Taylor Healthcare's admissions labels are engineered to help you create a positive patient experience from the very first interaction. Our laser label sheets incorporate special features to prevent printer jams and maximize the operational efficiency of your admissions team.

Nursing Labels

Our catalog of nursing labels covers the patient experience from end to end. Everything from labels indicating allergies, infectious diseases, isolation and fall precautions, labels and tapes for charting, IV metering, visitor passes and more are available through a single source.

Laboratory Labels

Labs, hospitals and clinics from coast to coast rely on Taylor Healthcare labels to identify microscope slides and specimens, indicate hazards and storage conditions, provide service at the point of care and more. Choose from products for Cerner, Meditech, Sunquest and other laboratory information systems.

Pharmacy Labels

We offer a comprehensive assortment of pharmacy labeling products for Cerner, Meditech, VA and other systems. From color-coded warning labels, anesthesia labels and expiration indicators to glove-friendly shielded labels, Taylor Healthcare helps keep pharmacies running smoothly and safely.
